Since being elected to be part of the General Assembly, what have you done to represent the student voice in the chamber and in other relevant circumstances?

Since I was elected to General Assembly, the first big challenge that I have faced has been educating myself about my large constituency, and strategizing a plan on how to reach out to a group that is not necessarily a specific campus area, or an entire college. Social & Behavioral Sciences has a category of majors in the College of Arts & Sciences that also spans across several of their sub-schools and departments. Along with my fellow SBS Senators, we have set up a GroupMe to discuss this, and have a meeting with the four of us scheduled to brainstorm constituency outreach for October and November.

As far as outreach, I have mostly had conversations with fellow SBS students (in my classes, in my Scholars program, some of the students in my residence hall) about some of their favorite and least favorite things with our courses, advising, and events. I am also planning to attend an Arts & Sciences Student Council meeting in the near future (next meeting is on Oct. 4), to do some outreach; appears to be a student organization where I could find a number of SBS students, and could interact with them.
