Since being elected to be part of the General Assembly, what have you done to represent the student voice in the chamber and in other relevant circumstances?

At the GA meet and greet, it was easy to get students talking about USG and what they wanted from us. I've spoken to people on South Campus more informally often about what we can do for them in the General Assembly. Many conversations have involved students in my building, Smith Steeb, and I have done my best to defend their interests in General Assembly, especially their freedom of speech when it came to passing legislation about window writing.
